

THE MISSOURI PACIFIC STRIKE.

Everything Remains Quiet—No Violence Offered. But the Freight Doesn't Move—All Attempts to Start It Prove Futile.

St. Louis, March 12.—Everything is quiet about the railroad shops here this morning. The men are all at work and seem to be entirely satisfied with the action of the company yesterday in restoring their wages. The statement comes from Jefferson City, made on the authority of one of the leaders of the Sedalia strikers, who was in the city yesterday in conference with Governor Marmaduke, that unless a settlement of the difficulty is made by Friday noon the engineers and firemen will join the strikers. Governor Marmaduke will send a special representative to Sedalia to make further inquiry regarding the situation there, and will probably appoint a committee of personal friends at Sedalia to keep him thoroughly advised of the condition of affairs. He doesn't see why, if it is a fact as stated, that no violence had been used and no interference practiced by the strikers, that trains don't move and traffic of the road is not resumed.

The strikers at Hannibal, Mo., have been joined by the section men and some wood workers and their total number is now about seventy-five. No freight trains are allowed to move on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Road, but passenger trains are undisturbed. General business is suffering, and a good deal of discontent is becoming manifest among the laborers in a lumber yard, who had their wages reduced lately.

Kansas City, Mo., March 12.—No further developments in the railroad strike. The Missouri Pacific pay-car has not arrived yet, but is expected this afternoon.

Sedalia, Mo., March 12.—No change in the condition of affairs here. The streets are as quiet as on Sunday. Scarcely any business is being done. Adjutant General Jameson is here again, and with the police force endeavored to move freight trains. Five attempts were made, and each time the strikers resented the engineers' attempt to start their engines, and the request was complied with. The strikers will hold a meeting this afternoon, when it is expected Captain Hayes, senior Vice President of the Missouri Pacific, will be present.

St. Louis, March 12.—A special to the Post-Dispatch, from Moberly, Mo., says the strike continues without new features. Everything quiet. A conference between a committee of strikers and the managers of the Missouri Car Company, the lessees of the Washburn shops, has been held. The managers stated to the men, if they would resume work at the current rates, they would be at once increased according to their worth. This proposition was rejected by the committee, who said the men would not go to work until an arrangement was made satisfactory to the workmen all along the line. It is not unlikely the conflict between the Washburn Company and the lessees of the shops here will be cancelled, if the managers do not commence work in a very few days. Quite a number of workmen here are making arrangements to move to other places where employment may be had.

St. Louis, March 12.—The Atchison, Kan., special to the Post-Dispatch says: The status of the strike is unchanged. Passenger and mail trains are all right but freight trains are entirely abandoned. Hundreds of loaded cars are on the side tracks and in the yards. No attempt is being made to start freight. The office clerks are idle, some have been given a lay-off. The strikers would not accept a compromise. The following is the suggestion of the Governor. The Railroad Commissioners to send a committee to St. Louis to confer with the strikers and the same strikers at Sedalia and Parsons do the same.

St. Louis, March 12.—A Jefferson City special to the Post-Dispatch says the air is filled with all sorts of wild rumors. The strikers claim a compromise has been offered by Governor Brown, representing the railroad company, to restore the old wages of last October, with a probable increase. Governor Brown denies the statement and says the railroad will not negotiate with the strikers, because they are not law-abiding and honest citizens, and could not be treated with them under the circumstances.

The strike at Pleasant Hill, Missouri, commenced this morning. The shops and yards are in possession of the mob. Trouble is feared there. The militia are still at Centerville, fifteen miles west of here, awaiting orders.

MADISON, Ind., March 12.—For the past few weeks society has been on the quiver awaiting the event of the season, which took place last night when Mr. James Clements, third son of John C. Clements, the well-known starch manufacturer, was wedded to Miss Fannie Habitzel, daughter of Mr. Fred Habitzel. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents on Main street, and was performed by Rev. G. D. Archibald, of Covington, Ky. The bride, a handsome brunette, wore a marvellous satin dress entangled with lace, with velvet and Irish point lace, and carried a bouquet of roses and lily of the valley diamond ornaments. The groom wore the conventional black full evening dress suit, and looked manly as he stood beside his future partner in life. The attendants were: Tottie Gorgas, Mamie Seppington, Mr. Will Colegate and Norval Venn. After the ceremony was performed, all partook of a repast, prepared by William Brown, a well-known caterer. The tables were loaded with all the luxuries of the season, and the guests were treated royally. The guests from abroad were Mr. D. M. Brown and wife, Cincinnati; Mr. Fred Smith, Indianapolis; John Godfrey, Louisville; John Habitzel, Peoria, Ill.; Miss Mamie Harris, Hanover, and Albert S. Ailing, Columbus, Ind. Miss Mamie Seppington wore light blue nurse's veil, oriental lace, ornaments, diamonds, Miss Tottie Gorgas wore a cream-colored satin, oriental lace and diamond ornaments. Mrs. John Clements, mother of the groom, wore a dress of black silk and lace with metal flowers and diamond ornaments. Mrs. Fred Habitzel, mother of the bride, wore a black silk dress, diamond ornaments. Mrs. William Clements wore a handsome dress of broad satin, natural flowers and diamond ornaments. Mrs. D. M. Brown, of Cincinnati, wore a dress of garnet velvet, natural flowers and diamond ornaments. Miss Nellie Fogg, cream-colored satin, natural flowers and diamond ornaments. Miss Fannie Vail, cream-colored satin, natural flowers and diamond ornaments. Miss Alice Emmett, fawn-colored silk and gold ornaments. Miss Mamie Bright, light pink satin, trimmed with Spanish lace and gold ornaments. Miss Annie Dold, cream-colored nurse's veil, oriental lace and diamond ornaments. Miss Lizzie Todd, salmon-colored, velvet, lace and diamond ornaments. Miss Annie Johnson, white satin, natural flowers and diamond ornaments. Mrs. Frank Powell, black velvet, natural flowers and diamond ornaments. The other ladies were equally as well dressed, and the room looked handsome as it sparkled in brilliancy, with youth and beauty, as the rays of the gas jets spread their light upon every countenance, while the fragrance of the evergreens and flowers added to the occasion. The guests departed at a late hour, after which the bride and groom drove to the residence of the groom's parents on West street, where they will reside for the present. The wedding tour was postponed.

Seymour's Budget of News.

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, NICARAGUA, VIA GALVAPAZCO, March 12.—Active war preparations are being made throughout the country. The Government has now several thousand men ready to send to the frontier, and strenuous efforts to resist Barrios are being made. In Costa Rica a large number of soldiers are ready to move. Great enthusiasm is manifested, and confidence in the final result is displayed. It is thought probable in some quarters that Guatemala will consider the matter before attempting coercive measures, and that a friendly solution of the difficult problem of uniting the States may be arrived at.

An Advocate of Protection.
NEW YORK, March 12.—The press and plant of the late Truth newspaper has been secured by a company of gentlemen who propose publishing the Daily Telegraph, that will advocate a policy of protection of American industry, under the editorial management of Senial, Corresponding Secretary of the Association of American Economists. With the assistance of Dr. Edward Young and other well known writers of Washington and New York. The first number of the Daily Telegraph is expected to appear on or about April 4.

Chicago Wheat Market.
CHICAGO, March 12, 11:15 a. m.—Excitement in the wheat market was so great during the early trading that it was difficult to effect trades during the first half-hour, although the transactions within that time were very heavy. May wheat sold during the first fifteen minutes anywhere between 83 and 84 cents, the bulk of the trading being at 83 1/2. There was a quick drop to 83 1/4, followed by a sharp rally to 83 1/2, on receipt of information that war news was not so prevalent in London.

Roseberry Seen at Chicago—Caught in a Frog.
LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 12.—Joshua T. Roseberry, the crooked Star City attorney of "forgery fame," has been heard from. He was seen at Chicago yesterday by M. M. Mayerstain, associate editor of the Daily Courier of this city, who, being in total obscurity in regard to Roseberry's position, suspected nothing whatever. Josh, in giving an account of himself, said he was bound for Kansas in search of a better location for his practice, and by this time is probably enjoying himself in Canada among his brethren. This is probably the last that will be heard of the crooked attorney.

Morris Fooley, a brakeman employed on the L. N. A. and C. Railway, was run over and horribly mangled on that road early yesterday morning. Fooley had just received his pay, and was under the influence of liquor at the time. He was killed. He entered the yards in a very stuporous condition and caught his foot in a frog, at which place he remained lying until the first morning freight came along, which soon settled his fate. Nobody knows where he is from or whether he has any relatives living near here. An inquest will be held tomorrow, and if nobody appears the remains will be interred properly.

Scientific Eucure and Dancing.
Special to the Sentinel.

UNION CITY, Ind., March 12.—A few of the many complicated questions that arise between the right and left bowers were again debated at another session of the "Old Lira," held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Patchell, the other evening, and which was in the nature of a surprise on the editorial host. Professor Wood's orchestra furnished the music for the occasion and the amount of muscular tissue expended in balance on the corner, "Dan Tucker," and a variety of quadrilles has not been surpassed. Refreshments were served of sandwiches, coffee, cake and cream. The occasion was one of great enjoyment.

An elaborate dress ball was given last night under the K. of P. management at the Opera House.

There is a visible supply of patriots developing here who are willing to serve the Government under the new administration, and petitions are being circulated quite numerous.

The ground-hog is regarded as reliable, and all attempts hereafter to influence his actions will be abandoned.

Two Bloody Tragedies.

FORT SMITH, Ark., March 12.—By the arrival of Deputy Marshals here to-day from the Indian Territory two bloody tragedies of recent occurrence are brought to light. About three weeks ago John M. Oliver, a prosperous white man living near Stone-wall, in the Chickasaw Nation, sent to a neighbor named Crockett for some hay. Crockett refused to send the hay until Oliver paid a small debt owing him. A few days later Crockett, while passing Oliver's house, was shot and killed by Oliver. Several Deputy Marshals in the neighborhood pursued Oliver and attempted to arrest him. He resisted with a Winchester rifle and pistol, and made a desperate fight, but finally, after being wounded for some time, he bullet struck him in the mouth, killing him instantly.

A Horrifying Tale.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 12.—Patrick Rainey, wife and son, live in a small shanty near the Hollenback Breaker, and are very poor. Two months ago Rainey's wife, while drunk, was out in a severe storm, during which time she froze her hands and feet in a terrible manner. The neighbors not seeing or hearing anything of the woman for some weeks, became alarmed yesterday, and visiting the house found her lying in bed, with frozen portions of her feet being mortified. She lay in a filthy room that was frightful to behold. Her case is beyond recovery. She informed the neighbors she had been unable to rest at night on account of rats that had become so ferocious in the shanty that they would run over her person and endeavor to feast on portions of her mortified limbs.

The Central American Troubles.

LIBERTAD, SAN SALVADOR, March 12.—On the 5th of March, President Barrios, of Guatemala, declared that Central America should constitute one Republic, and that he would assume command of all the military forces of the various States. This declaration was accepted by Honduras, but rejected by San Salvador, Nicaragua and Costa Rica. The forces of Guatemala began immediately to march against San Salvador. President Zaldarain telegraphed an account of the situation to General Diaz, President of Mexico, and asked him to use his influence to prevent bloodshed. In answer, Diaz sent the following telegram to President Zaldarain: "Your telegram is understood. I have taken the necessary precautions against any contingency that may arise."

Missouri Wants the Earth.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The Missouri Congressional delegation have agreed upon persons for the following positions: Minister to Berlin, Minister to Brazil, Minister to Mexico, Minister to Chili, Minister to Belgium, Consul to Belfast, Consul to Liverpool, Consul to a good place in Germany, Consul to a good place in Ireland, three heads of Bureaus in Washington. First Assistant Postmaster General, Chief Justice of Utah, three Indian Agents.

War Preparations in Central America.

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, NICARAGUA, VIA GALVAPAZCO, March 12.—Active war preparations are being made throughout the country. The Government has now several thousand men ready to send to the frontier, and strenuous efforts to resist Barrios are being made. In Costa Rica a large number of soldiers are ready to move. A Social Event.

VERNON, Ind., March 11.—The marriage of Mr. James A. Hutchings and Miss Maggie Maynard was solemnized this evening at the bride's residence, Rev. S. E. Barr officiating. Mr. Hutchings is one of our most promising business men, having the largest hardware and furniture store in the county. Miss Maynard is an estimable lady, and her social life is hard to find. They left on the 10 o'clock train for an extended bridal tour through the South.

Loss of Machinery and Pumps.

CAIRO, Ill., March 12.—The wrecking steamer Eokert, with a large machinery from the wreck of the steamer Helena, at Memphis, got out of coal near Columbus, in the City of Providence, and while taking coal from the Providence, the large broke loose and capsized, losing all the machinery and the Laiza pumps of the Eokert, valued at $3,000. It is very deep water there, and it is thought they will be a total loss.

Murphy-O'Ford Murderers Sentenced.

NEW ORLEANS, March 12.—In the Criminal Court Judge Baker sentenced the murderers in the Murphy case, found guilty last week. Pat Ford and John Murphy, who were found guilty of murder, were sentenced to be hanged, and Judge Thomas Ford, Canfield and Buckley, who were found guilty of manslaughter, were sentenced to twenty years imprisonment in the penitentiary, the full penalty of the law.

Death of a Confidence Man.

BOSTON, March 12.—John Norton, one of the most expert bunko sharps, is dead. He and Fitzgerald, "the kid," were the men who swindled Charles Francis Adams out of $17,000 a couple of years ago. Fitzgerald is now in State Prison for his share in the enterprise, but Norton was never captured.

Stirring Up the Sinners.

BUFFALO, March 12.—The revival in the churches of this city is unprecedented. In Delaware Avenue M. E. Church, the wealthiest in the city, under the pastorate of Rev. Fred C. Iglehart, seventy-four converts have made profession. Mr. Iglehart was formerly located at Evansville, Ind.

Brokers Found Guilty of Larceny.

PHILADELPHIA, March 12.—The jury in the case of Ladd Brothers, formerly brokers on Third street, on trial for appropriating money of the customers, returned a verdict this morning of guilty of larceny as bailed.

WASHINGTON IN A PASSION.

The Father of His Country in a Rage at a Letter to Springfield Republican.

In the year 1835 I was traveling to Western Virginia in one of the Neil and Moore's stage coaches over the old National road from Baltimore. I was one of three inside passengers, my companions being two elderly gentlemen of fine appearance and general information. A striking and an entire stranger to the country through which we were passing, I listened with great interest to their general conversation, which was mainly suggested by the localities and inhabitants along our route. After passing Hagerstown we came upon a portion of the trail of Washington's ranger, when, in 1754, he was sent look after the French aggressions on the Ohio. This introduced talk concerning Washington's career and character. One of the gentlemen avowed himself the son of a revolutionary officer—a Pennsylvania—who fought at Germantown, knew Washington intimately and was with the army during its memorable winter's encampment at Valley Forge. When a boy he had often heard his father tell an anecdote of great command that occurred at that time, which he proceeded to relate. It was universally known throughout the army (and is now a matter of history) that Washington was an exceedingly methodical man, having a stated time for every action, public and private, of his daily life. At his headquarters at Valley Forge it was proclaimed in general orders that the hours between 11 a. m. and 2 p. m. were sacred to the General's privacy and must not be interrupted by any caller, except upon business of the utmost importance. This strict order of discipline was maintained, and the topic of conversation at the mess-table of some young officers, one of whom ventured to disturb the General in his room during those hours. It was taken in a frolicsome spirit by one of them, who was to try the experiment within a week.

Having assumed so dubious a task its imprudent undertaker proceeded to contrive ways and means whereby to accomplish it. To avoid unpleasant consequences the attempt must find justification in some occasion of momentous importance. Tail he pretended to find in a rumor just then prevalent in the camp of an intended surprise of the army by the British at that time occupying Philadelphia. This was true. A night attack had been planned, but was averted by information given by a Quaker.

San Juan del Sur, Nicaragua, via Galvapazco, March 12.—Active war preparations are being made throughout the country. "I wish to see the General immediately." "You can not, sir; you must know the orders."

"Yes, I know them; but I have a grave communication which I wish to make to him forthwith."

"Can't help it, sir; you must come after 2 o'clock. I have my orders and can't break them."

"Friend, suppose I know of a matter of vital interest to you, to me, to him, to the whole army—within an hour may render fatal to us all; don't you see that such a thing overrides your orders, and that the consequences of delay will be laid at your door? I must see him and tell him."

"Yes, General, but as you say and you are willing to take the responsibility, go and do so, and the Lord save both of us."

The officer went to the door and knocked. No answer. Again, still all silent within. His hand thrust heavily and he was more than half-minded to force his passage. But that anticipated laugh at the mess-table over his failure spurred him to one more attempt. Immediately following the third knock a sound as of a chair suddenly and violently pushed over a bare door, was heard, followed by a heavy tramp of boots toward the door. With a quick jerk of the bolt it flew open, and Washington, with head thrown back and face flushed with anger, stood before him with the exclamation, "What does this mean, sir?" The culprit attempted to summon up his concocted story; but the expression of his interrogator's face, such as he had never seen before, and the access of a sudden consciousness of his frivolity made him stammer in utter forgetfulness of his well-digested words. But not for long; for Washington cut him short with "Begone! and consider yourself under arrest, sir." As he turned to sneak away he heard these further words shot at the sentry, "Do you know your orders?"

"Then obey them, and if it occurs again I will thrust your bayonet through your cursed body."

Then succeeded a bang of the door, more heavy foot-falls and the usual silence.
